

FOREIGN.

SOUDAN

Army Occupied by the French
Sudan on Friday Last.

Probable Report that the Emperor has Escaped from the French to be Defended to the Last.

The Corps Legislatif voted Emperor.

Strasburg Still Holds Out.

Further Details of the Recent Fighting.

Etc., Etc., Etc.

French Troops Crossed the Continent.

FROM ENGLAND.

Peace to be Preserved.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Advises from Metz state that the French army had withdrawn to the west bank of the Moselle. McMahon's "at Toul," twelve miles west of Nancy. The evacuation of Metz is considered certain. The troops have been scattered over the departments of Strasbourg, without bombing.

A dispatch from Nancy, via Berlin, dated Saturday night, says that a French battalion, consisting of 1,000 men, had crossed the river on its return to Paris. The corps had been scattered over the departments of Strasbourg, without bombing.

A dispatch from Nancy, via Berlin, dated Saturday night, says that a French battalion, consisting of 1,000 men, had crossed the river on its return to Paris. The corps had been scattered over the departments of Strasbourg, without bombing.

Napoleon's forces from Metz fully crossed France.

From Copenhagen it is stated that none of the French iron-clads and avisos are in the offing. The French Admiral Willems is off Kiel.

The French daily having committed any violation of the neutrality of Geneva by neglect of their soldiers.

A Southampton dispatch says that a North German force had been taken into Cherbourg as a prize.

Defenses of Paris.

Preparations for the defense of Paris are rapidly made, and, as of a colonel communicator.

It is thought that the Prussian demonstration on Strasbourg is only a feint.

French Maneuvers.

General command volunteers 100,000 men to aid the army.

Advice from Amsterdam say that United States bonds are only exception to the stagnation of the stock market.

The Hague has published a dispatch

that the French army is of an al-

lance between Austria and South Germany.

The French Blockade.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The British consul at Alton has advised that the French had taken the fort of Alton o'clock when the Mayor was ordered to defend himself before the Commander of the Prussian forces. The town was made to pay 50,000 francs. Requirements were also made that the Mayor be sent to Strasbourg.

The Governor of Hohenzollern refused to grant the permission to conduct a flag of truce home to Strasbourg.

Evacuation of Nancy.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The Franco-German dispute still continues, on the approach of the Crown Prince's army, and retreated across the Moselle to the Fortress of Toul. The French destroyed a bridge of seven arches which spanned the river.

The forces of the Crown Prince had reached the frontier at Toul, and the bombardment resumed on Saturday. The besieged addicted, and were given forty-eight hours to decide whether they would surrender.

The French Offer Battle.

The French yesterday battle, but they did not attack.

Strasbourg has not been attacked.

Troops and artillery are leaving hourly for the army.

A number of men and horses have been gathered in the army.

If the French are defeated at Metz, the Prussians will send another army at Châlons and another at Paris.

French Legislatif.

In the Corps Legislatif yesterday Jules

Simon presented a petition praying that the members of the religious communities be required to do military service like other citizens, and not be compelled to pay taxes, and thus interfere with their politics.

Palko was asked why the name of Le-guion appeared signed to a decree in the Journal Office, and replied that the decree was for an act prior to Léon's resignation. He said that Simon was no absolute coman-

der-in-chief of the army.

Gambetta demanded immediate action on the proposal of Jules Favre authorizing the Legislatif to appoint a committee of defense.

The Prussians attacked Fonte a Masson,

driving on the left, but were repelled back to the right. The French were driven back to the right, and the French retreated to the left.

Special correspondents write from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

The King's army is said to be at Fonte a Masson, and Stevens at Forbach, which is about two miles west of Paris.

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Prussian soldiers say the hardest fighting of all was at Weissemburg. There was much hand to hand fighting, but the French, though well armed, were repelled.

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

asked for a audience, but was refused."

Our special correspondent writes from Paris:

"The King has gone to Forbach. Paris is

here. It is reported that Napoleon has

